Remark:

1. According to Section 103(a) of the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act, the name of the manufacturer or the name of the private labeler shall be ascertainable from the marking.

A code and website address where all the required information can be found is acceptable, provided the name of manufacturer, importer or private labeler is also identified so a consumer without access to internet can know who to contact directly to also obtain the required information.

2. According to Interpretation and Enforcement of Section 103(a) of the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act, the Commission believes that the name of the country and the city and state (or administrative region, as appropriate) where the product was manufactured would be sufficient to provide the location of production. However, the manufacturer would be the final responsible for identifying the specific source of the product in the event of a compliance inquiry or other Commission action.

A code and website address where all the required information can be found is acceptable, provided the name of manufacturer, importer or private labeler is also identified so a consumer without access to internet can know who to contact directly to also obtain the required information.

3. According to Interpretation and Enforcement of Section 103(a) of the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act, a manufacturer may choose to employ a code or numbering system provided the required information remains ascertainable by the consumer.

Each manufacturer is ultimately responsible for making a reasonable judgment about what information can be marked on their product and packaging, given the character and type of their product and packaging, and what required information can be ascertainable, given the character and type of their business.

The tracking label assessment was based on the submitted sample and the information provided by the applicant. There was no verification on the validity of such information.
